

Scott Duffy is a Columbus business owner specializing in digital assets and blockchain technologies. He has been a featured speaker to the Ohio State Bar Association, Columbus Financial Services Professionals, Nationwide Insurance and the Association of Governmental Accountants and has spent over a decade with the Department of Defense working on modernizing legacy payment and accounting systems.

Scott has served on the Finance Advisory Board for Ohio Dominican University and chaired the Defense Finance and Accounting Service's Columbus Mission Focus Group.

Scott is a parent to 2 children ages 15 and 10 with the oldest enrolled in Oakstone Community School. Scott and his partner Shalana have 4 children between them and love to spend time together hiking, making music and traveling.